Glass Buttes, Oregon: 14,000 Years of Continuous Use

(from a presentation by Daniel O. Stueber)

The article below is a summary by Anita Lukes of a presentation given by Daniel O. Stueber at the 2017 WAA Annual Meeting at Husum, Washington. His complete article with references can be downloaded for free at academia.edu and is as follows:

Stueber, D.O. and Skinner, C.E., 2015, Glass Buttes, Oregon: 14,000 Year of Continuous Use In Toolstone Geography of the Pacific Northwest, Edited by Terry L. Ozbun and Ron L. Adams, pp 193-207. Archaeology Press, Simon Fraser

For more than 14,000 years Glass Buttes, one of the largest obsidian sources in Oregon, has been a source of high quality toolstone for Native American flintknappers. Glass Buttes' obsidian is of high quality, abundant, and in many colors. The colors include translucent and banded black, red, mahogany, gold sheen, silver sheen, gray-green banded, rainbow, and banded or mottled multi-color combinations. It is found in large blocks or boulders, some weighing more than 100 pounds. Figure 1 shows many of these Oregon obsidian source sites. Because of the quality of Glass Buttes obsidian, it has been prized among Native American and First Nation people of North America. Obsidian from this source continues to be coveted by present-day knappers.

X-Ray Fluorescence

The glass-like nature of obsidian made it a material of choice for tool making and therefore a valuable trade commodity. Over the last 30 years, the use of x-ray fluorescence (XFR) characterization methods has enabled researchers to understand the movement of obsidian tools and toolstone across the landscape. Figure 2 shows areas not only in Oregon, but in Canada and California where Glass Buttes obsidian artifacts have been discovered.

Blood Residue Extraction

Blood residue on toolstones can now be extracted and tested with antisera from modern day animals that are relatives of ancient, extinct animals. A positive reaction between the modern day animal anti-sera and the ancient blood residue

Editor Apology: Please note that the pictures for the article for the 2017 WAA Annual Meeting that appeared in the October edition of the Newsletter were taken and submitted by Lenny Riersma. Thank you, Lenny for your help. The Editor apologizes for this omission from the October Newsletter.

would indicate a relationship between the two animals. This relatively new technique aids in understanding game hunting strategies used by the ancient hunters and how hunting strategies changed over time.

Joanne Mack PhD, working with the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) conducted the largest survey to date of the Glass Buttes area in 1975. In a 19 square mile area, the survey located 131 sites. These sites are described as campsites, knapping stations, hunting blinds, and rock quarries. The projectile points recovered range in age from 13,000 years BP to 900 years BP. The points included a fluted clovis point, Western Stemmed and foliate points, Northern Side-notched, Pinto, Humbolt, Elko, and Rose Springs series points.

Further analysis on Mack 1975 points in 2011

In 1975 XFR and blood residue extraction techniques were in their infancy and rarely used. Hence, the importance of further analysis with XFR and blood residue extraction in 2011 on 41 obsidian and FGV (fine grain volcanic material) projectile points on loan from the University of Oregon Museum of Natural and Cultural History..

Table 1 shows the selected artifacts (at the bottom), assigned numbers 1-41 for purposes of analysis and discussion. The table at the top shows the type, source, distance from the source, and results of blood residue.

Note that artifact #9 lists “camel” as the source of the blood residue. Sites at Fossil Lake, Paisley Caves, and in southwestern Canada have produced evidence for the existence of this extinct species in association with human activity. Camels in these areas became extinct at the end of the Pleistocene.

Protection of Glass Buttes

A Glass Buttes Knap-In is still held every year in the Spring. These knappers generally focus their activities on specific areas as requested by the Bureau of Land Management. BLM has a general policy that states that an individual is allowed to collect reasonable amounts for non-commercial purposes, not to exceed 250 pounds of raw material per person per year (Code of Federal Regulations under 43 CFR 8365 “Rules of Conduct”). Unfortunately, some individuals exploit this resource and take hundreds of pounds each year.

There is no specific protection for Glass Buttes. Several groups have recommended that the area be surveyed and sites evaluated for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places.

Cottage Grove Clovis

Dan Stueber has been a flintknapper and practitioner of primitive technologies since 1982. He has studied flintknapping and lithic technology with Dr. John Fagan and Dr. Everett Callahan, and for the last two decades has served as teaching assistant to several of Dr. Fagan’s lithic analysis classes and workshops and to Dr. Callahan’s flintknapping master classes. He has taught at the University of Victoria and co-taught courses with Dr Fagan in all aspects of lithic technology and analysis for Portland State University, Malheur Wildlife Refuge and to archaeologists with the US Forest Service US Park Service, US Bureau of Land Management and the California Department of Transportation. Dan was the Lithic specialist at Archeological Investigations Northwest for 25 years, where he conducted technological analysis, including the entire assemblage from Marmes Rockshelter (45FR50)*, taught lithic analysis and contributed to reports on hundreds of prehistoric sites in the Pacific Northwest.

Website Upgrades

By Janeen Grohsmeyer

Our website worldatlatl.org is getting some upgrades and fixes as we move into 2018. Features may be moving about or temporarily not available as the site is configured. We appreciate your patience, and we would love to have your suggestions! (and your help, if you're familiar with WordPress or if you'd like to be a contributor to the site). Here are some of the changes and enhancements.

SITE-WIDE

- A translation plug-in has been installed so that people throughout the world can read the site. Look for the flag-button at both top and bottom of each page then select your preferred language.
- There is now a Search box at top of every page.
- Menus have been updated.
- The Sidebar changes depending on what you're looking at.

ACCOUNTS

- Accounts for those who had problems logging in have been fixed.
- Accounts on the site can be enabled for all WAA members, no matter if you pay by check, cash, or PayPal®. If you want an account on the site, please let the web manager know at waamailings@gmail.com.

EVENTS

- An Interactive calendar with a search and sort function has been added. You can select by location, distance, and type of event.
- Locations show all upcoming events scheduled for them.
- A Map that shows locations of upcoming events.
- Members can fill out an online event form to be reviewed by the WAA Secretary for posting. For privacy, street addresses are not shown on the calendar or map, only towns. If you want to publicize the street address, you can include it in the description.

ONLINE STORE

- The shipping problem has been fixed on the store, so you can put your orders in.
- New items are available for sale.
- We are still configuring the connection to PayPal®.

LIBRARY, ARCHIVE, AND GALLERY

- Members can ask for author-privileges on the site, so they can post their own articles.
- All Newsletters (The Atlatl) from 1988 through 2017 are now available on the website for members.
- We are collecting a complete newsletter archive (we're still missing Oct. 2013, Jan. 2014, and Apr. 2014)
- We plan to have a more extensive picture gallery

ONLINE COMMUNITY (Still to come)

- Our forum has been temporarily disabled as we switch to a different version.
- We will be enabling Groups (both geographical and interest) so it's easier to connect with each other.

About the Web Manager

Janeen Grohsmeyer first heard the word "atlatl" about ten years ago when her son, Ryan, came home from a Boy Scout camping trip in Maryland and talked about the neat weapon he gotten to use. She attended a few nearby events with him (and helped carry the darts to and from the car) and more recently has enjoyed trips to Letchworth Park in New York and Cahokia Mounds in Illinois. She has worked as an engineer for the US Navy and the US Army, and she has been a web manager for two churches and the League of Women Voters of Maryland. Janeen enjoys gardening, science fiction, and puzzles, and she likes learning about linguistics, science, and history. She lives in Kentucky with her husband and daughter.

The 2017 Champions

2017 Women's Champion — Lucie Jamon

2017 Youth Champion — Marlin Bassett (On Left)

2017 Men's Champion — Douglas Bassett (On Right)

534 people (76 youth, 113 women and 345 men) made 1,820 entries in the ISAC in 2017. [Participants represented ten countries as follows: North America – United States (37 states), Canada, Mexico; Europe – France, Spain, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy; Asia – Japan.] In the following list of top ten people in each division, each person is followed by their highlights of the year. The number in parentheses is their top-five aggregate (youth 40, women 50, men 70) for those who qualify. The “batting average” is the number of 90's thrown divided by the games thrown for a total year or career.

Youth

- 1 - 94 Marlin Bassett - NY (91.52) Eighth time in the Top 10. Second highest score and top-five aggregate ever thrown by Youth and new record (by 4 points) for 14-year-old. ## How to Submit ISAC Events for Posting

There have been many changes to the website over the past couple of months due to the diligent work of our new webmaster, Janeen Grohsmeyer. One of these changes is a new method of posting events to the website.

In the past, the only method was to send your event information and description to the Executive Secretary. Currently, there are three ways to post:

1. You may enter your event information on the website (you must be a member) by going to "Events" and choosing How to "Host an Event." Scroll down towards the bottom of that page and you will see a section starting with "You may submit your event..." Click on "Create an event" (in red) and you will be taken to a page where you can enter the name of your event, a description of the event, the date(s) of the event, and times (in 24-hour format). It is also suggested to check any applicable event categories (usually ISAC Event and Atlatl Throw). When finished, click on the Publish bar and save the draft. If you have not included all of the necessary sections, a notice will come up on top saying that your event could not be saved because it is missing elements, and will list those elements. When you get the draft saved, contact the WAA Executive Secretary at deb\_andrews@frontier.com, and your event will be reviewed and published.
2. You can enter your event information via the Contact Page (in red). All required information must be included. Once you have done that, your message will be forwarded to the Executive Secretary, who will enter it in the Events Calendar.
3. You can still request event postings by sending the information to the Executive Secretary deb\_andrews@frontier.com (preferred!) or calling 740-698-7131, or by snail mail sent to Debbie Andrews, 2041 Reynolds Ave., Albany, OH 45710.

Once the event is posted on the website, the newsletter editor will copy the events for publishing in the newsletter if the event has been posted by the publishing deadline (see deadlines on event calendar, page 11 of this Newsletter)

Reminders!

Events MUST be submitted no less than 30 days prior to the event date. In order to request an exemption to the deadline, the request must be in writing and must state the reason that the organizer cannot schedule his contest at a later time. The request will be dealt with by a three person committee rather than by the secretary alone. To expedite approval, it is recommended that such requests be sent simultaneously to all three members of the committee. They can be contacted as follows:

Debbie Andrews
2041 Reynolds Ave.
Albany, OH 45710
(740) 698-7131
deb\_andrews@frontier.com

John Whittaker
Grinnell College, Box 805
Grinnell, IA 50112
(641) 269-3447
whittake@grinnell.edu

Jon Wood
17682 Rt. AA
Madison, MO 65263
(660) 291-9269
jswood429@gmail.com

All events must have a name, description, location, street address of the location, dates and times to be included in the posting.

If you have any questions about posting an event, please contact Debbie Andrews.

T-Shirt Design Contest

During the Annual Meeting last August, the Board and WAA members suggested that a contest be held for a new World Atlatl Association t-shirt. A WAA logo on the front of a t-shirt has been the design that the organization has sold for well over 15 years. Individual contest sponsors have designed and sold t-shirts for their events as well.

If you have a great idea for a new WAA t-shirt design, send it by mail or e-mail to Frank Lukes, the editor of THE ATLATL newsletter. The Board of Directors will narrow the number of entries and we will see if we can figure out a way for all of you to vote for your favorite design (again either by mail or email).

Find Frank's address on the first page of the newsletter, his e-mail is theatlalt@gmail.com.

Membership Renewal

A reminder to all that it is time to think about renewing your membership. An annual membership is $15 US or Euros (whether individual or family) and runs from Jan 1, 2018 to Dec 31, 2018 if paying by cash/check. To renew your membership online, visit our website at www.worldatlatl.org, and click on the membership tab. Payments can be made online by using PayPal®. If using the automatic renewal feature of PayPal® your membership will expire 12 months from time of payment. If you opt out of the automatic renewal but still use PayPal®, then your membership will run Jan 1, 2018 through Dec 31, 2018. (a little confusing but what we have to do to use auto-renewal of PayPal—you can always opt out of the auto-renewal) You can also print the application on our website and mail it with your payment.

No web access?—then clip the application below and send with your check.
