The World Atlatl Association, Inc.

Founded in 1987, WAA unites people around the world. Members receive our quarterly newsletter, The Atlatl, which publishes information about events and competition results, archaeological finds, scientific information, reports, cartoons, and just about anything else that is related to the atlatl as a primitive weapon or contemporary sport. Members are officially scored and eligible for awards in International Standard Accuracy Competitions (ISACs).

"Too long have I hunted mammoth alone!"

If you have an interest in primitive skills and want to link up with a terrific and friendly group of atlatl fans who share your interest and enthusiasm for this fascinating stone-age/space-age dart throwing device, join the WAA today!

What is an atlatl?

Atlatls are ancient weapons that preceded the bow and arrow in most parts of the world and are one of the first mechanical inventions. An atlatl is essentially a stick with a handle on one end and a hook or socket that engages a light spear or “dart” on the other. The flipping motion of the atlatl propels a light spear much faster and farther than it could be thrown by hand alone.

Jatz 'om Kuy “Spearthrower Owl”

The word atlatl (pronounced at-latal or atal-atal) comes from the Nahuatl language of the Aztec.
